Bang!!! I heard (a) something coming from the (ad) attic so I tiptoed to the attic and turned the light on. I heard something scattering ^{through} my great granddad's army ^{statue} and all of a sudden there is a fat red monster with black spots. It had bright purple eyes with ^{our} humungous feet and sharp dirty claws. It had white horns on the side of its head. His name was Scream. He said, "Run" in a quiet evil voice with a smirk on his face. I ran for my life and ~~and~~ into my room and hid under the blanket hoping I would not see it again.
